

A close-up, high-contrast photograph of a zebra's coat, showing the characteristic black and white stripes. The stripes are thick and irregular, running diagonally across the frame. The lighting is dramatic, with deep blacks and bright whites, emphasizing the texture of the fur.

Making Africa's Wildlife Intimate

"All I wanted to do now, was get back to Africa. We had not left it yet, but when I would wake in the night, I would lie, listening, homesick for it already."

Ernest Hemingway (1885 - 1961)

"When you have caught the rhythm of Africa, you find out that it is the same in all her music."

Karen Blixen (1885 - 1962)

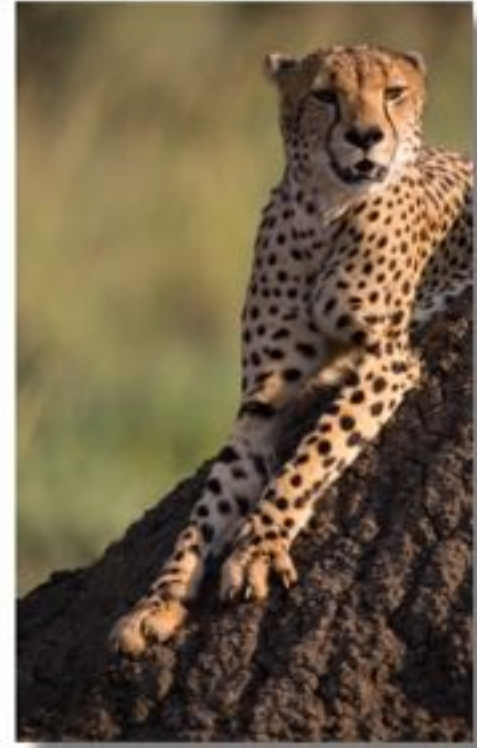

"We cannot win this battle to save species and environments without forging and emotional bond between ourselves and nature-for we will not fight for what we do not love."

Stephen Jay Gould (1941 - 2002)
